

IONISING RADIATION IN THE WORK PLACE FOR MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS

This course will provide candidates with the necessary competency for managing the health aspects of ionising radiation as occupational hazard. The course also has the objective of ensuring fulfilment of the requirements for recognition with the National Nuclear Regulator as an Appointed Medical Practitioner as required in the regulatory framework.

When: September 2021 to March 2022

Time: 6 Months online course

CPD Points: ± 30 CEU's

Target group: Medical Practitioners Registered with the HPCSA as an Occupational Medicine Practitioner

Registration Fee: R22 580

Register here: Link to be sent.

Topics: Legislation and authorisation
Ionising radiation and risk mitigation
Risk perception and risk communication
Radiation effect
Medical surveillance
Managing radiation overexposure and radiation effects
Record keeping
Radioactive waste management
Practical assignment

Medical practitioners interested in attending the course in 2021 are requested to inform Dr J Meintjes at wajm@sun.ac.za.

Contact Details: Tina Ekermans 021 938 9548 tina@sun.ac.za

